First Romance of the New Spring.

It is moonlight on the Hill. From out the trees a gentle zephyr creeps to rob the hyacinth of its perfumed breath, and adown the garden walk the whippoorwill lends his monotone of sadness unto the balmy night. Sleep, with brooding wings, sits silent o'er the scene. But hark! it is the tinkling guitar strummed by the lonely Augusta. He comes. Beneath the vine-clad window in the ghostly gloaming he pauses, and up the flower-trellised wall he shoots a melancholy tenor fraught with the passionate inquiry, "Must I leave thee here alone?" No answer returns save the haunting echo and the low clicking of a distant door. The scene changes.

It is the back-yard tableau. A white-robed old man bends above a chained dog and soothes his too eager spirit as he loosens the collar. A voice says "S-co-ock him, Bull—take a short cut round the rose bush." A flash—and the old man is alone. The clatter of a fallen guitar comes from the front; a sound like the rush of a steep-chase nearing the hedge is borne back, and neck and neck two figures cross the picket fence to disappear down the dim perspective of the deserted street. Then the old man meets Bull as he returns on the outer walk, and removes in a discouraged manner a dark object from his foaming mouth, while the animal retires to his kennel in silence. The door opens and shuts upon the white-robed form, and all is still again. But as he gets in bed and shoves the old lady's feet out of the warm place he mutters, "Bull is gettin' old, an' aerehades don't pay divydenes like they used to, but if the business keeps up, I think you will be justified in startin' another patch-work quilt, Maria. That last fellow left real rassumer."

"What sorter sample did you get?" "Tolerble fair. There was a long strip with a pistol-pocket hangin' in it and one gallus butt'n."—Macon (Ga.) Telegraph.

Jackson and the Mason.

Nashville (Tenn.) Banner. Andrew Jackson's peculiar liking and respect for laboring men is picturesquely shown by a story related in the Nashville Banner. John Cy-rer, a mason, was on several occasions engaged to build chimneys at the Hermitage, and while at work often observed the most refined and wealthy people of Nashville coming to visit the general and his wife. The good mason, having more or less of mortar ornamenting his clothes, would say to Jackson that he "was not fit to appear in such elegant company." The general always replied: "You must go to the first table, sir; a laboring man ought to be as highly honored as any man in the community, for the support of the world depends on their labor. I will see that you are treated with proper respect at my table." This story is certainly to the credit of Jackson's democracy, however it may be as to his social graces. Cy-rer, frequently laughing, said that he had been more honored than any man in the world, for President Jackson had frequently waited on him, and brought him brick and mortar when his regular attendant was out of the way.

It NEVER FAILS to make light bread when used as directed. It is COMBINED with every household who has given it a trial. It is an entirely NEW INVENTION, without any of the bad qualities of soda or alumina, yeast or other baking powder. It has in itself a tendency to sustain and nourish the system. Good food makes good health, and health is improved or impaired in proportion as the food we eat is nutritious or otherwise. Lewis' Baking Powder always makes good bread. One can of this is worth two of any other baking compound. It makes bread whiter and richer. More than half the complaints of bad four arise from the use of common baking powder, which often make the best of flour turn out dark bread. The most delicate persons can eat food prepared with it without injury. Ready every where being powder is adulterated and is absolutely injurious. This is made from Michigan Grapes Cream of Tartar, and is FINEST SECRET. It makes the BREAD, LIGHTER, and most nutritious. BREAD, BISCUIT, CAKE, GRULLERS, BUCKWHEAT, INDIAN, and FLANNEL CAKES. Congressional Convention.

The Republican voters of the XIVth Congressional District of Illinois, consisting of the counties of Adams, DeKalb, Madison, Macon, Pike and Vermilion, are requested to elect delegates, by counties, to a Republican Congressional Convention for said district, to be held in the city of MATTOON, COLES COUNTY, WEDNESDAY, MAY 20th, 1880.

at the hour of 7:30 o'clock, p. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates in said district, to be voted for at the November election of 1880, to fill the following offices, to wit: Member of Congress, and Member of State Board of Equalization. Also to transact such other business as may properly come before such convention.

The basis of representation will be the vote cast for the Republican candidate for congress in said district in 1876. One delegate for every 100 votes, and one for each fraction of over 50 votes, producing the following results in the several counties: Adams, 1; DeKalb, 1; Madison, 1; Macon, 1; Pike, 1; Vermilion, 1.

Total, 6 delegates.

By order of the committee, FRANK M. WRIGHT, Chairman.

U. P. HANSEY, Secy.

Missouri instructed for Grant yesterday.

A severe earthquake shook up the people of San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

The Republicans carried the city of Jacksonville, Florida, at the municipal election on the 5th instant. Jacksonville is full of northern people.

Now look out for a big yell from the Bourbon papers all over Illinois; the city of Kankakee went Democratic at the municipal election on Tuesday.

How have the mighty fallen! Commodore Nutt, the famous dwarf, who has been seen by millions of people, is about opening a liquor saloon in New York, and General Tom Thumb is exhibiting himself in a ten cent show.

FIFTEEN YEARS

On the morning of the 15th of April, 1865—fifteen years ago to-day—the people of the United States were shocked beyond description to hear that the beloved president had died at the hands of an assassin. The shouts of joy over the collapse of the great rebellion had not yet died away when the terrible news of this great calamity fell upon the country. In the first bitterness of that great grief we knew not the extent of the loss, but fifteen years of experience have shown how terrible was the crime which that half-crazed youth committed when he sent a bullet coursing through the brain of Abraham Lincoln. No one man ever held in his hands the same power for good that the great Illinoisian did in that eventful April of 1865; no other ruler ever possessed to the same extent the respect and confidence of the people who had been arrayed against him in deadly strife for four long and bloody years. To his unerring judgment and far-reaching charity his late foes would have gladly committed their every interest, secure in the belief that no harm could come to them while his sturdy hand held the helm of the ship of state. But with the assassin madness ruled the hour, and bitter have been the fruits of that fatal blunder.

We know now that if Abraham Lincoln had been permitted to live through his second term of office, much of the strife and trouble of the last fifteen years would have been averted, and it is not unreasonable to believe that the country would long since have been at peace, for he was the great peacemaker. The troubles which have since agitated the country through the vexed question of reconstruction, and which are the legitimate outgrowth of the ill-considered policies of Mr. Lincoln's immediate successor, would in all probability never have arisen had the fifteenth of April not been reddened by the blood of the great martyr. The seeds of dissension sown in those eventful years between 1865 and 1868 have borne bitter fruits, and to none more bitter than to the South. How exorable, then, should be the memory of the assassin in the minds of those who have suffered so much by reason of his mad deed!

Anathematized by his name forever.

Ir Grant has been fortunate in the things he has done, he has been equally fortunate in the things he has left undone. For instance, he has not started a Grant Literary Bureau. We do not say that a Grant Literary Bureau would have been fatal to him, but if we may judge by the performances of the Blaine Literary Bureau it would be a heavy load for him to carry.—Globe-Democrat.

A WORD TO REPUBLICAN NEWS-PAPERS.

Allen Telegraph.

The course of certain Republican newspapers, which are making a bitter fight against all Republican Presidential candidates except their own particular favorite, cannot be too strongly condemned. There is not a Republican named for the highest office who is not a good and worthy man, with a clean record. To traduce any of them, in an excess of zeal for one of their rivals, is entirely unbecoming and unnecessary. Besides, as only one of the candidates can be nominated, a great many papers are making a record which will trouble them in the future. For instance, some Grant papers are not only supporting their favorite with great warmth, which is all right, but are traducing Blaine and Sherman, which is all wrong. Suppose Blaine or Sherman should be nominated, how awkward would be the position of a Grant paper which had gone to such extremes? It would, doubtless, support the nominee, but in doing so would have to "eat its own words" and as its previous denunciations would be continually quoted against it, it would be without influence in the campaign. Our advice is: Support your own favorite as warmly as you please, but don't vilify his rivals. Don't "burn your bridges behind you," but keep open your communications to the rear, so that if your favorite is not nominated you can retreat in good order, and, as loyal Republicans who believe in principles first and men afterwards, support gracefully and cordially the nominee of the convention. This is the course alike of wisdom and common sense.

The Methodist Conference.

Baltimore Gazette.

The quadrennial session of the general conference of the Methodist church in the United States will be held in Cincinnati, commencing May 1; and will probably last nearly if not quite a month. The Methodist church is the largest protestant denomination in America, and the conference referred to represents the largest branch of it. Among the matters which will come before it, the most important, perhaps, is the election of new bishops. Three bishops have died—Bishops Ames, James and Haven—and there is a demand for new bishops, owing to the increased work. It is thought that at least four new bishops will be elected and possibly five. Another matter of great importance will be the consideration of a scheme for the reunion of the Methodist Episcopal church—the Methodist Episcopal church north and the Methodist Episcopal church south; and a kindred project is a proposition for the fraternalization of all the branches of Methodism throughout the world.

Fred. Douglass as He is.

Washington Cor. Troy Times.

I was surprised to find that Frederick Douglass was hardly regarded as a representative man among them. His sympathies are to a certain ineradicable extent with the proud white blood of his father. He is a true man, but constitutionally unlike his mother's race in many essential particulars. He is no more a representative African than Carl Schurz is a representative German. Both are phenomenally intelligent. His wife, however, is a full-blooded negress, and I am told that she has never learned to read or write. He engaged himself to her when in bondage, she being a free negress of the same neighborhood; and after his escape a sentiment of honor led him back to marry her. He seems greatly attached to her. It is always interesting to meet and to talk with Mr. Douglass. His grand head is now thickly covered with snow-white hair, and the years begin to tell upon him in other ways. But he is a majestic-looking figure in a pageant, as I saw him at the White House on New Year's day. Once I called upon him with Will Carleton, the poet, by request of the latter, and during the interview I saw Mr. Douglass hand Mr. Carleton a $5 bill for the relief of Sojourner Truth.

Burdette, of the Burlington Hawk-eye, with the help of the elephant, canvasses the votes for President of the animals in the menagerie. The giraffe votes for Blaine, because the latter was so quick to see where the giraffe came in in Dr. Garcelon's little menagerie; the Newfoundland, in the "Happy Family," goes for John Sherman, because he is interested in the our-rency; the hyena goes for Tilden, because he would "go for" any dead man; the tortoise votes for Fitz John Porter, because he would make a good running mate for him; the turkey was in favor of David Davis, because he keeps company with him on the fence; the gopher, said he would go for Horatio Seymour, because he stays in his little hole so much; the wild ass of the desert brayed fiercely for De La Matry, and the monkey voted for Proctor Knott. When the votes were counted the elephant announced that there were 54 votes for Grant. That settled the matter as far as that menagerie was concerned.

There is a pivotal state. It is New York. Without it Tilden nor no other democrat can hope to be president for four years at least. That is the state for the republicans to secure, and it is the very one Blaine cannot hope to get. Grant can carry it. Of the three prominent candidates—Grant, Blaine and Sherman—he is the only one who can carry New York. He is, therefore, the man to nominate of the three. Illinois republicans see this, and will name the candidate who can best subserve the interests of the party.—Hoopston Chronicle.

Dairyville Farm.

The farm belonging to Mr. Wm. Dalrymple, in the northern part of Minnesota, covers thirty square miles. The quantity sown with wheat in 1873 was 20,900 acres; the yield was 250,000 bushels of wheat. Seventy-five reaping and binding machines were used to harvest the crop, the work being done at the rate of 1,000 acres a day.

This farm is divided into sections of two thousand acres, over each of which an overseer is placed. Comfortable quarters are provided for the overseers, while there is a large boarding-house for the accommodation of the hands. The vast estate employs upwards of 450 laborers and 350 horses and mules. There are three book-keepers to look after the accounts, and two cashiers to receive and disburse the money. A neighbor of Mr. Dalrymple is Mr. B. P. Cheney, formerly of Boston, who has a farm of 5,000 acres. Last year he harvested 42,000 bushels of wheat, 6,000 of oats and 3,000 of barley. The machinery on his farm consists of forty plows, sixteen seeders, forty harrows, sixteen harvesters, three steam threshing machines, and three portable steam engines.

The absurd agreement made by Mr. Schurz with a dozen Ute chiefs, to provide for the surrender of the present Indian reservation in Colorado and the removal of Utes to other locations, has been before the Senate in the form of a bill for several weeks, and after being amended until it has lost most of the features upon which Mr. Schurz particularly plumed himself, has met the approval of that body and now goes to the House. As amended the bill provides that the Utes shall surrender the 11,000,000 acres which they now possess as tribes and take in lieu thereof lands in severalty to the extent of 160 acres for each individual, these lands to be non-taxable and inalienable for twenty-five years. But these provisions are divested of all interest and importance by the fact that the bill declares that unless the Meeker murderers are voluntarily surrendered by the Utes the agreement shall fail. It is also provided that, unless the agreement is ratified within four months after its enactment by Congress, the whole scheme shall be abandoned. There is not one chance in a million that the Meeker murderers will ever be voluntarily surrendered by their tribes, and neither is it at all likely that the warriors of the Ute nation will consent to give up their present reservation in the hunting season, when they are entirely independent of Government aid. Mr. Schurz has made a botch of the Ute business, and the Senate has only made his blunder more apparent. The Indians should be turned over to the War Department.—Globe-Democrat.

THERE have been periods in the Republican party when the name of Grant and our soldiers could be spoken without patriots bounding to their feet and shouting, "You want a king." It has not passed from the memory of men that the Republican party was grateful, and even boasted of its enduring gratitude, not only to General Grant as a soldier, but as a statesman. It might even do good to some of these eminent patriots of the Republican party, who now vie with each other in heaping abuse upon and vilifying every man who seems fit to advocate the claims of General Grant, to turn back to the last nominating convention at Cincinnati in 1876, and see what that body said. Read it: "The national administration merits commendation for its honorable work in the management of domestic and foreign affairs, and President Grant deserves the continued and lasting gratitude of the American people for his patriotism and his eminent services in war and peace." Those who were present upon that occasion will remember that the very arches of arches of the Exposition Building rang with the cheers which the sentiment aroused. Since that time the world has arisen to do homage to the man there commended.

Is it small wonder that his name is upon the lips of a grateful people? It is not strange that in a period which every thoughtful person regards as one of peril to the minds of men turn toward such a personage as General Grant. The wonder is, that maligned and defamed as he is found in the Republican ranks who profess to see in every friend of General Grant a monarchist, and who turn white and shake in the knees over the pretended fear that the silent hero of a hundred battles for liberty and the honor of the nation now seeks, in the closing years of his life, to undo all his work and cover himself with infamy.—Inter-Ocean.

The Democratic party is rash in expedients. The bold attempt to steal—that's the word—the State of Maine for ulterior motives as well as present gain, proved a costly experiment to the Democratic party, and forever disgraced the men who lent themselves to the execution of the scheme. The attempt of the Democratic gang in the House of Representatives to rob the State of Minnesota of its representative has proven another costly experiment which has involved the conspirators in a shameful row among themselves, and laid bare all the dirty details of the scheme, which would never have been reported by the committee to the House. In each instance it appears that they have swamped in a mire of their own making.—Springfield Statecraft.

TOLEDO, April 15, 1 p. m.—Wheat 2 to 3c lower. Corn 39c.

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 14.—Murat Halstead and Warner M. Bateman, President of the National Sherman Club, were closeted with Secretary Sherman for some time to-day. Mr. Bateman said that they are in receipt of very encouraging advices from Ohio; that the Blaine men are doing a great deal of lying, but despite this, Sherman will have a solid delegation.

A Democrat of prominence, one who has held a high position in the councils of his party, says to-day that Mr. Tilden has written a letter, to be read at the New York Democratic Convention at Syracuse, declining to be a candidate before the Cincinnati Convention and withdrawing his name. The reason assigned for his course is the condition of his health. This same gentleman says that Mr. Tilden prepared a letter two months ago, withdrawing his name, but the intercession of personal friends prevented it from being made public at that time.

MEMPHIS, April 14.—General Grant and party, in charge of a delegation of citizens of Little Rock, Ark., left by a special train at noon to-day. They will arrive at Little Rock at 7 o'clock this evening. The General will remain as the guest of that city until Friday morning, when he will return to Galena Ill., stopping only at Cairo.

CAIRO, April 14.—It is now definitely settled that General Grant will arrive in this city at 2 o'clock p. m. on Friday. He will be received by a salute of artillery, and he will be escorted through the streets by several companies of the State Guard, and by the municipal authorities and Cairo societies. The welcoming addresses will be delivered by the Mayor and Hon. W. H. Green. Gen. Logan has been invited, and is expected to be present. All the towns in Southern Illinois, Northwestern Kentucky and Southern Missouri along the lines of railways have been invited by telegraph, and some have already accepted. Excursion trains will be run on all the lines and excursion boats on the river. Not less than 10,000 strangers are expected to be present. A grand ball and banquet will be tendered the General at the St. Charles Hotel in the evening, while he and his company will be the guests of Col. Charles Gallagher.

MADRID, April 14.—Otero, who attempted to assassinate King Alfonso on the evening of December 30, as the royal carriage containing the King and Queen was passing through the palace gate, was executed this morning. At the time of his arrest Otero gave his age at 19.

Yesterday morning the Governor of the prison and the authorities roused Otero and led him in irons, bareheaded and clad in the clothing he wore when he attempted the life of the King, to the hall where the condemned prisoners hear their sentence in the presence of the Judge. Otero was pale, but composed, and signed his sentence with a firm hand. The Judge then delivered Otero into the custody of the brothers of the order of Paterly Caridad, who led the prisoner to a chapel dimly lighted. Otero expressed repentance, but refused all ministrations of the priests.

DES MOINES, April 14.—The Iowa Republican State Convention assembled at 11 o'clock with 985 delegates in attendance, and every county in the State represented. The attendance was far larger than generally expected.

Waldo M. Potter, of Clinton, was made temporary Chairman and took his seat, making a fifteen minutes speech of great eloquence and force. He alluded to all the candidates for President—Edwards, Washburne, Sherman Grant and Blaine. The names of all were cheered as they were mentioned. Grant's very heartily, and when the name of Blaine was reached the Convention rose to its feet and repeated its cheers three times, the cheering lasted a minute or two.

All the delegates had met before the assembling of the State Convention in district caucus, and each caucus had selected two names to present to the State Convention for delegates to Chicago. The Blaine men carried every district and secured none but pronounced Blaine men. The only contestants were in the First and Second Districts, but a decided Blaine majority was given in each of these.

The Convention then adjourned till 2 o'clock.

his opinion here is that all the instructors, whether under pay or receiving gratuitous education, were willing that young Whittaker, because of his color should be frozen out by their chilling neglect. The marvel is that he was able to make any progress in his studies. The Times speaks for the whole people hereabouts when it says that the question for Congress to consider is whether West Point Academy is a school for the training of soldiers to whose advantages all American citizens are entitled on a footing of exact equality, or a seminary of aristocratic pretension and nursery of snobs in uniform.

TRUCOLA, ILL., April 14.—While Miss Mattie Lyons, a young lady school teacher, who resides near Murdock, this county, was sitting by the fire, yesterday morning, after being up all the night previous watching a sick sister, she fell asleep and while in that condition her clothes caught fire. Before the flames could be smothered she was burned so badly that she died at 4 o'clock this morning. Miss Lyons was twenty years of age and a most estimable and intelligent young lady.

I was surprised to find him so much improved; he told me that your medicine "Constitution Water" had been the means of doing it. It has been the belief of every physician knowing of his case that there was no help for him.

SELF-ADJUSTING SPRING BED!
TRY IT AND BE CONVINCED.
THE BEST BED IN THE MARKET.

No frame required, as we set the Springs in the slats of the bed and make them perfectly secure.

We adjust them to fit any size bed. Most convenient, clean, and durable. Made of the best Spring Steel Wire, finely coiled. They are easily moved, as each slat can be lifted out separately. They are not linked together across the bed. Each side of the bed acts independently, thus preventing any "sagging" to each side. We propose to have them thoroughly tested. Will call at your residence and leave on trial. We guarantee satisfaction or no sale.

Jay Gould, the great railway king, is a slick one. A neat little story is told about the way in which he makes use of the few social opportunities he enjoys. Being invited to a private dinner upon his recent return from the west, he declared in a post-prandial effusion to the dozen or so of gentlemen present that he had made more money than he could possibly find use for, and that the great object of his life henceforth would be to improve the great consolidated concerns which he now controls, and to place them on the basis of solid dividend paying securities. He suggested, indirectly, that Union Pacific would be the first to benefit by the new consolidated arrangements. Upon hearing this an old gentleman present went next morning to his broker and bought 1,000 shares of the stock at 93 and a fraction. He had to sell it out a few days later at 88.

AN OILY SUBJECT.

A Visit to Hatfield, Taylor & Co.'s Refining Plant, and What Came of It—How Lined Oil is Made.

One evening not long since our reporter visited Hatfield, Taylor & Co.'s establishment on East Main street, better known as the Decatur Lined Oil Works, and while there Mr. John Hatfield very kindly explained the process of manufacturing lined oil, which is mostly used by painters and manufacturers, and sells at from 60 to 90 cents per gallon. The works started up under the new management August 1st, 1870, and have been turning out from 450 to 500 gallons of oil per day, a large number of men being constantly employed day and night running the machinery, attending the presses, stripping and trimming the oil cakes, shipping, etc. The process of making oil out of flaxseed is simple, but very interesting even to the most careless observer. The seed is grown to a considerable extent in this county, and last season the farmers received $1.15 per bushel for it delivered at the works. The seed is placed in an upper room, but before it can be placed in the presses it must be ground or crushed. This is accomplished by the seed passing from the upper room into a hopper on the first floor, and from the hopper it falls first between two heavy iron rollers, 12 inches in diameter and 16 inches in length; being well crushed the seed passes between two revolving iron crushers immediately below, each 16 inches in diameter and 30 inches in length. The crushed seed then falls into a large wooden receptacle below, from which it is scooped up and thrown into a solid stone basin, 12 feet in diameter and 18 inches deep, and is again by two large swinging stones, each 14 feet in diameter and 14 inches thick. This ends the crushing process. The seed is then placed in small bulging sacks, which are tied securely at the top. The sacks of seed are placed into 30 iron receptacles in the costly press which stands near by, and the crushed seed is subjected to a hydraulic pressure of 400 tons. Following the extreme pressure, which extracts all the oil from the seed in the case of the sacks, the oil flows from the receptacles into a conducting pipe into a large basin of 50 barrels capacity, under the press in the basement of the building, and from thence the oil is drawn into two large tanks, of 400 gallons capacity each, which are in a frame building adjoining the brick establishment. There the oil settles and is drawn from the tanks into barrels ready for shipment.

The oil cakes are taken from the receptacles after each pressure, trimmed with circular knives and piled up in an adjoining room. These cakes, which are 1 great demand, are used as feed for all kinds of stock, and are shipped direct to Europe and various points in the United States. During each 24 hours the works turn out from 450 to 500 gallons of oil—3,500 per week—or 168,000 during the season, which, reduced to dollars, averages a business of nearly $125,000 each year. During the present season 65,000 bushels of seed will be turned into oil, and next season the number of bushels of seed used will be largely augmented.

Many important improvements and additions to the works have been made under the new management and more are to follow. During the summer the firm will erect a brick addition to the works, 35 by 40 ft. in size, which will be used as a store room and an oil room, thus giving them better facilities for handling and shipping oil. Hatfield, Taylor & Co. have another important manufacturing interest connected with their establishment, but of that we may have something to say at another time.

Death of An Aged Lady.

Oreana, in this county, is made to mourn the loss of an estimable lady, Mrs. ELIZA J. SPOONER, who died of pneumonia, Tuesday, April 13th, at 3 p. m.

Deceased was about 55 years of age, possessed an estimable christian character, being a member of the Christian church. She leaves behind to mourn her loss two sons, James and Benjamin. One son laid himself upon the altar of his country, and another perished while celebrating the anniversary of our national independence. The deceased was one of our earliest settlers, for many years past.

She has been a widow, her husband having died of the same affliction that closed her earthly career.

Thus art gone mother dear, To lands of peace and fields of ease; Thy suffering frame lies low in the tomb, But thy happy spirit is beyond disease.

We miss thee, dear mother at the altar, Thy place at the festival board is empty space, Yet at the foot of the Father's throne thou dost abide, And with God's elect thou hast a place.

We miss thy pleasant voice to cheer our days, Of thy wise counsel we are now bereft, Yet thou art basking in heavenly rays, While we to suffer and sin art left.

We will tell on, dear mother, and blest, Till the end of our journey we reach; We will meet thee at last in the haven of rest, Bounded at last on the heavenly beach.

Good Evidence.

When such men as the Rev. Dr. Rantlin, Rev. Dr. Harvey, Prof. Green, Dr. Bartine, Col. John E. McChesney, E. W. Nell, and a host of others equally trustworthy, certify over their own signatures to the marvelous efficacy of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, in the diseases for which it is recommended, it is time to dismiss doubts on the subject.

Kid Gloves.

While we do not warrant the 30-cent kid glove we risk nothing in saying that they are well worth the money and more too. To those who have bought them and growled because they didn't last a year, we would say that we are not responsible for that, and when they buy a cheap kid glove they must not expect it to last and wear like a fine or high-priced one. Our cheap kid gloves are the best in the market for the money. If you want a genuine fine glove, we can offer you a superior article for one dollar, and warrant them.
